The fourth NSW Health Workforce Forum, hosted by the Workforce Planning and Talent Development Branch was held on the 23rd September 2019 at the City Recital Hall. The forum brought together over 280 employees from across NSW Health to discuss emerging workforce priorities in culture, talent and technology.

The program had a range of speakers to disrupt thinking. The keynote Shara Evans, outlined emerging and future technology that will impact on healthcare. Anders Sorman-Nilsson connected the digital world to our analogue hearts. While Cynthia Mahoney provided a practical perspective on disrupting self and using your inner talent to change culture.
